

In No Man Is an Island Merton says: "Salvation is full self-discovery by the fulfillment of one's own God-given powers, to be found in the love of others and love for God. I mean also the discovery that one cannot find himself in himself alone, but that one must find himself in and through others." As St. Paul says, 'we are all members one of another.' (Romans 12:5) We stand together, or most assuredly we will be destroyed by sin and the devil, each in our own time and in our own way.

So this summer, as we celebrate our national independence, think about what it means to be independent yet also interdependent? How shall we learn to live in such a way that we stand together, not because we all agree on everything or because we are all exactly alike but because we are all one in Christ. Together we discover ourselves, our strengths and our weaknesses; together we each become a better me. May God help us to discover who we are and whose we are.

Let freedom ring.

Peace,
Pastor Paul
